A LONG TERM, - Orange County Court was chiefly occupied on Monday last with the trial of a desperado from Warren county, North Carolina, known as Frank Somerville, alias Frank Nunery, supposed by many to have be- dueted the services at the same hour, assisted longed to the famous Lowery band. Somerville or Nauery is a genteel locking toulatto about twenty six years of age, spare and well built, good countenance, with a handsome set of white teeth in marked contrast with his black moustache, and weighs about one hundred and forty pounds. He came to Orange county some months ago, and immediately commenced to ply his vocation as a thief. Soon afterward he opened he slipped his fastenings, darted through the growd, and escaped, after firing his piste! at Sheriff Ricketts, who was in pursuit. The next time he was heard from was by a letter from him to a colored friend, dated at New Orleans. Upon the receipt of this letter the authorities at that city were requested by telegram to arrest him, and under a requisition from the Governer, he was brought back to Orange, and on Monday last placed upon trial. The first charge was for barglatiously cutering a store house and robbing it. For this offence he was sentenced to eighteen years in the peniteoriary. The second charge was for opening Holliday's mill by false keys sad robbing it. To this he plead nuilty, and was sentenced to the penitentiary for one year. The third charge was for horse stealing, to which he again plead guilty, and was sensenced to the penitentiary for three years. The fourth charge was another case of horse stealing, and there was another plea of guilty, for which he was renteneed to the penitentiary for three years, making altogether twenty five years in the penitentiary, with an additional term to be added, as he has before been an inmate of that institution for shooting a police officer.

Sommerville did not appear to be depressed in spirits, but smiled plessantly and said to these around him that he would be out to less than two years. Some persons predict that he will eseape before reaching the penitentiars.

YESTERDAY.—The celebration of Christmas, this year was much quieter than for some We appeal urgently to those who are years past. The policemen were very vigilant ing the day, although many young men and boys paraded the streets equipped with cow by the icc. bells, tia hera &c. As their pranks did not interfere scriously with anybody's happiness and served to amuse themselves, they were, as a general thing, not interfered with.

The services in the various churches were held as given in Tuesday's Gazette. All of them had the alters and chance's decorated with everygreen wreaths, mottoes &a; but the usual elaborate decorations were dispensed with. At St. Mary's church at 5 a. m. solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Whiteford, of Georgetown college, with Rev. Fathers O'Kane and Keating as deacon and sub deacon. Three masses followed and another high mass at 10 a. later in the day at Falls Church and Fairfex station, respectively.

In Christ church, at 11 a. m., Rev. H. Suter officiated, and was assisted by a student from the Seminary.

At St. Paul's church, Rev. Dr. Norton conby Rev. Geo. A. Smith and a student from the Seminary.

At Green church, Rev. Dr. Spring held services in the morning; as did also Rev. Mr. Graham at the Methodist Protestant church. Rev. Mr. Boyle held services is the M. E. church South at 6 a. m. The music in all the churches was very fice.
